President's Report for 2019 ~ 2020

We moved to the New Haven area shortly before women were admitted to Yale College. My husband, Richard went to work in Sterling Library and I joined YUWO as a young, working mother. Now Yale is celebrating "50WomenAtYale150." Soon YUWO will celebrate 55 Years and I am YUWO President with a strong, supportive Board. No one could have predicted the apocalyptic Spring we lived through. The Board has been thinking positive, postponing and rescheduling for a busy productive fall. We all look forward to gathering together again.

A letter in the November/December Yale Alumni Magazine spelled out the origins of YUWO. Barbara F. Schultz, from Chapel Hill, NC, wrote

"I think YUWO helped make "it "(admission of women) happen. We are the fortunate benefactors of those women in the Yale Community who came together to form YUWO. We continue to support the original purpose of the organization: to provide women in the Yale community with opportunities to pursue intellectual and social interests; to develop friendships; and to support the scholarship awards program. Over fifty members joined the fall excursion to the Clark Museum for the Renoir Exhibit on a glorious day. Many more members attended our fall Lecture series on the Middle East, timely and informative. In our small groups: Book, French, Gourmet, Hikers, Local and Art Excursions, Needlers, and Scrabble, we made and strengthened friendships. The articles in this Annual Report speak to the breadth and depth of Yale University Women's Organization. I am fortunate to be a YUWO member and I am proud to be your president. — Mary-Jo Warren, President

Nominating Committee Report

The YUWO Nominating Committee, chaired by Landa Freeman, consisted of Cathy Burgard, Carolyn Gould, Marion Petrelli, and Betsy Rosenthal.

They presented the following slate for 2020-2022:

President:	Mary-Jo Warren
Vice President:	Elizabeth Parker
Treasurer:	Nancy Rosenbaum
Corresponding Secretary:	Janis Isenberg
Activities Chair:	Bernardina (Bernie) Wilcox

— Landa Freeman, Nominating Committee Chair

Newcomers 2019 ~ 2020

As we learn of one cancelation after another, our Newcomers Luncheon at Mory's joined the casualties. The twelve ladies who had planned to attend were notified and expressed disappointment in the lost opportunity to meet their fellow YUWO members. We plan to reschedule this special event in the fall and hopefully all eighteen 2019/2020 newcomers will be able to attend.

YUWO Newsletter and Brochure

NEWSLETTER: Beginning in the September issue welcoming our members to a new YUWO year, combining the December- January issue, missing April because of the COVID-19 virus that shut down all events early, and ending the year with a positive look forward in May, some 250 newsletters were sent each month in two forms, online and in print. Most people received the online version emailed by Mary Jo Warren, but thirty members received hard copies in the mail.

This was my first year to edit and produce the newsletter. For the first several months, former editor Landa Freeman and her husband, Jeff, provided know-how (many hours of know-how!) Mary-Jo Warren provided strong support in many ways, and fortunately for all, Marty Sherman stepped in to create the visual format that so enhanced the newsletter. Marion Petrelli provided many photographs. Many, many thanks to all who helped so much. — Susan Leonard, Newsletter Editor

Note: Due to Covid-19 an abbreviated newsletter was sent to update the membership in April and May.

BROCHURE: A brochure listing YUWO activities, board members, scholarship information and other background information, and accompanied by a letter of welcome and an invitation to the September Welcome Reception, was distributed to prospective members, including new Yale retirees, in late August. The brochure was also mailed to all current members, and is available on YUWO's new website at yuwowomen.org — Marty Sherman, Publications/Webmaster

Membership for 2019 ~ 2020

Thank you to all YUWO members for your continued support of this fine organization. This 2019-2020 fiscal year (June 1, 2019 - May 31, 2020) we have 282 paid members, which includes 18 new members. In addition, YUWO invites the participation of 18 honorary members, women who hold leadership positions at Yale.

Our YUWO by-laws state, “The purpose of the organization is to provide women in the Yale community with opportunities to pursue intellectual and social interests; to develop friendships; and to support the scholarship program.” Two years ago the Board approved expanding YUWO membership to include women who are Friends of Yale.

YUWO leaders strive to continue to offer quality programs as well as to raise money for our annual scholarships. We hope that you renew your membership for the coming 2020-2021 year and that you will introduce friends to our organization. Visit the YUWO website for more information and a membership registration form at www.yuwowomen.org.

~ 2019 Welcome Reception ~

This year’s Welcome Reception was held on September 12 from 4-5:30 pm at the Provost’s House at 35 Hillhouse Avenue. Mary-Jo Warren, Louise Ciulla and Sally Fazzone visited the site in May to discuss the details needed to make the reception run smoothly. Sally, Louise, Liz Collins and Mary-Jo also met over coffee to finalize the plan. It was decided paper goods (cups, napkins, plates and tablecloths) would be used this year along with beverage dispensers.

Barbara Kryger again chaired the Activities tables and found that the arrangement from last year worked well, with the flow even and members able to learn of opportunities to be involved with YUWO. Book Clubs and Gourmet still are very popular.

Patty Pollard sent out a request to Gourmet to provide refreshments and 12 members replied. Judy Miller again provided garden flowers for the table. Mary-Jo and Landa Freeman greeted guests at the door and Louise, Liz and Sally oversaw beverages—lemonade, iced tea and infused water—and food. Our official counter reported 99 guests and members attended.

Lunch and Learn for 2019 ~ 2020

All were invited to the Lunch and Learn talks which took place from 12:00-1:00 pm at the Yale University Welcome Center located at 149 Elm Street, New Haven. Members and their guests were encouraged to bring a bag lunch, and coffee, tea and light snacks were provided. Both talks, in November and January, were very well attended.

On Tuesday, November 5, David Cameron, Professor of Political Science and Director of the Yale Program on European Union Studies, discussed, “Brexit, Why it May Happen and What Would it Mean for the UK and the EU?” Professor Cameron teaches courses on European politics and the European Union.

On Tuesday, January 28, 2020, Douglas Rogers, Yale Professor of Anthropology and Director of the Yale Program on Russian, East European, and Eurasian Studies (REEES) at the MacMillan Center, spoke about, “Russian Business and Russian Government in the 21st Century.” Professor Rogers is a sociocultural anthropologist with research and teaching interests in political and economic anthropology; natural resources (especially oil) and energy; the anthropology of religion and ethics; cultural production; historical anthropology; and socialist societies and their postsocialist trajectories.

On March 3, YUWO member Margaret Flesher, a certified Guided Autobiography instructor, shared her experience facilitating groups of memoir writers. She discussed the benefits of memoir writing and how to find the stories that will make memoirs interesting for both the writer and the reader. In addition, she handed out a folder of memoir material to each member of the audience.

A talk was originally planned for March 24, to be given by Dr. Julia Titus of the Yale Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures, on “Dostoevsky as a Translator of Balzac.” Unfortunately, due to the ongoing pandemic, her talk has been postponed until Fall 2020, when we look forward to hearing her discuss the young Dostoevsky’s first literary publication—his free translation of Eugénie Grandet which also was the first Russian edition of this novel. — Marianne Lyden

YUWO Scholarship Committee 2019 ~ 2020 Annual Report

YUWO's scholarship program gives back to the community through its support for women affiliated with Yale who are pursuing educational programs to advance their careers. Scholarships are funded by donations from YUWO members and proceeds from the Lecture Series, as well as income from trust funds established by previous YUWO members held at the Community Foundation of Greater New Haven. Since 1972, 357 women have received YUWO scholarships totaling $474,375.

For the 2020-2021 academic year, the financial awards for the Scholarship program total $30,000. The program is targeted at women whose education has been interrupted or delayed. The applications must include a statement of personal history and goals, recommendations and financial records. These seven applicants were selected by members of the Scholarship Committee. Each of us reviewed each application, and in several teleconference calls, we discussed and decided, thoughtfully and carefully, how to allocate the available funds.

Now the committee is pleased to announce 2020-2021 the names of seven highly qualified recipients for awards to pursue their academic studies in the coming year. The recipients, who are enrolling in programs in nursing, public health, business administration and computer science, are studying for bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees.

Scholarship Committee 2019 ~ 2020:

Members of the Scholarship Committee this year were: Terri Burditt, Margaret Flesher, Sandra Greer, Elizabeth Rindskopf-Parker, Adrian Sterling, Jane Shaw, Sally Tyler (chair), Mary-Jo Warren, YUWO President, ex-officio) and Betsy Weber (YUWO Assistant Treasurer). Responsibilities were spread around to each committee member, and we collaborated to inform Yale employees of this opportunity, to prepare applications, to study submissions and select recipients, and to announce awards to the applicants and the membership. We could not have managed without Marty Sherman's assistance with the online application and other tech issues, and we turned to newsletter editor Susan Leonard for improving our notices for the newsletter. We thank our donors for trusting us with these tasks, and we express our admiration for the hard working and inspiring women who will benefit from these grants.

Lecture Series 2019 ~ 2020

“The Ethnic and Religious Complexities of the Middle East and the Current US Strategy” (Fall 2019)

YUWO Lecture Series presented its Fall Lecture Series in October, 2019, on “The Ethnic and Religious Complexities of the Middle East and the Current US Strategy.” Dr. Mithal Mardi, three-term president of the Institute for Learning in Retirement, presented the entire series. The attendance was outstanding, with rousing discussions both during and after each lecture. The series gave us insightful and objective perspectives on the history and development of religious, political and cultural development in the region — worthy of a significant award to all who participated.

The series planned for Spring 2020 was cancelled due to the impact of the COVID-19 virus. We plan to reschedule the lectures with the same speakers. We will hear presentations from four outstanding women whose contributions to Yale University’s commitment to excellence, fellowship and giving back to the global community is recognized and celebrated. We have yet to confirm the order of presentations at the time of this writing, but we are committed to the dates of October 7, 14, 21 and 28, all Wednesdays. We look forward to hearing from Constance Royster, Susan Gibbons, Dorothy Robinson and Linda Greenhouse and to have the opportunity to interact personally with them in a semi-interview style. More detailed information regarding the content, and scheduling will follow in the YUWO Newsletter.

Because the Scholarship Fund is a major recipient of all subscriptions received, we encourage all to engage in the spirit of continuous learning and our own fellowship in YUWO.

Members of the committee include Sandra Greer, Chair, Stephanie Jatlow, Judith Miller, Marilyn Cohen, Patricia Whitestone, Mary Louise Spencer and Mary Ann Nelson. We are also most grateful to the many YUWO members for the ad hoc nature of gathering ideas and the development of the April (Now October) series.

Fall and Spring Bus Trips 2019-2020

Clark Art Institute (Fall 2019) • Culinary Institute (Spring 2020/Postponed)

YUWO’s fall bus trip took place on Tuesday, September 17, to the Clark Art Institute in Williamstown, MA. Fifty-six people attended, with another nine on the waiting list and unable to join us. This museum, which had a major renovation completed in 2016, was an exceptional treat for those who had not been there since the restoration. The main exhibit, in recognition of the centenary of Pierre August Renoir’s death and sponsored by The Clark Art Institute and the Kimball Art Museum, was Renoir: The Body, The Senses. This daring exhibit was the first major exploration of Renoir’s unceasing interest in the human form, and it reconsidered Renoir as a constantly evolving artist whose style moved from realism into luminous impressionism, culminating in the modern classicism of his last decades.

An additional treat was the exhibit Ida O’Keeffe: Escaping Georgia’s Shadow. The show displayed her modernist paintings and prints that explore realism as well as abstraction and touches on the sisters’ sibling rivalry.

The day was warm and beautiful allowing the YUWO members to take advantage of the beautiful grounds of the museum and the beginning color of the Berkshire fall.

The spring trip was planned for Wednesday, May 20 to the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, NY. We were to enjoy a three-course French lunch at La Bourse, one of their restaurants, and a tour of the CIA. Their location, which overlooks the Hudson River is spectacular. Alas, we have had to cancel this date, but the trip is rescheduled for Wednesday, September 30 if Covid-19 allows us to go at that time.

Activities in 2019 ~ 2020

YUWO members had the opportunity to participate in a wide variety of activity groups. This year there were four Book Groups, Art Aficionados, Conversational French, Needlers, Tennis, Luncheon Gourmet, Hiking, Golf, Art Films, and Exploring Yale and the Greater Community. Some of the highlights are below.

Art Aficionados

Tours in 2019-2020 included:

1. Ceremonial Dress from South West China
2. William Bailey
3. 200 years of Indigenous North American Art
4. Boiler Room, London Studio 2015
5. Do Ho Suh
6. John Ruskin exhibit
7. The Incident 2/18
8. Victorian Radical - postponed

Conversational French

The Conversational French Group met once a month at Chestnut Fine Foods. We either discussed a reading or had nice conversations.

Needlers

Needlers were busy with their projects: needlepointing, knitting, crocheting, cross stitching, mending and sharing ideas for other creative enterprises. The change to one from two meetings/month seemed to have enabled more Needlers to attend which was the desired goal. As always, everyone is welcome even if they are less interested in needlework than in conversation and companionship.

Tennis Group

The Tennis Group consisted of 14 scheduled players with an additional 5 players signed up to be subs. We played every Tuesday from 10-11:30 am at the Yale indoor tennis courts from the beginning of October to the middle of April. Although Yale went through some big changes in staff and could not guarantee us a court until a couple weeks before the season began, it truly was where everyone wanted to play, and we were all very pleased to be able to return to our “home” courts.

Luncheon Gourmet

This year, the Luncheon Gourmet group has enjoyed planning, cooking, and eating meals based on favorite foods of immigrants, including some of our members who have come to Connecticut from around the world. We started with Flavors of Afghanistan in the Middle East, followed by Italian favorites and then Israeli dishes. A meal of Dutch delights was planned but postponed. Our March restaurant meal was at an inviting new restaurant in New Haven, Hamilton Park.

YUWO Hikers

The warmer than usual Winter made it possible for the hikers to get out on the trail at least twice a month this year. Hikes included Silver Sands, Branford’s Shoreline Greenway, Lake Saltonstall, Ansonia Riverwalk Park, West Rock, East Rock, Lighthouse Park, Trolley Trail and more.

Golf

The YUWO spring golf clinic was unfortunately cancelled this year.

Art Films

The Art Film group met in the fall with good turnouts. It concluded with the movie “Turner.” Many of the participants had viewed the J.M.W. Turner exhibit in Mystic.

Exploring Yale and the Greater Community

The Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station

On September 24th, 19 YUWO members heard the CAES Director Theodore Andreadis provide an overview of the Station’s research and services as well as its 144-year history, 137 years at its current location on Huntington Street. We then toured four of the labs to hear lead researchers speak about their current work. Most significantly, Mr. John Shepard, head of the Mosquito Surveillance Program spoke on the Station’s collaboration with neighboring states to monitor mosquitoes for Eastern Equine Encephalitis. Other researchers and labs included Dr Goudarz Molaei on CAES' Tick Testing Program, Dr. Robert Marra on the services of the Plant Disease Information Office, as well as Dr. Gale Ridge on the Insect Inquiries program and her work on bedbugs. The gardeners among us were also entranced by the specimen trees and shrubs throughout the grounds.

Common Ground School and Farm

On October 22nd, YUWO visited the Common Ground campus, located in the woods at the base of West Rock. We were greeted by Joel Tolman, Director of Outreach and Impact, who provided an overview of the school's history and mission and its inter-related programs of high school, urban farm, and environmental education center. We then met with Farm Director Deborah Greig and her assistant who explained the farm programs and how they demonstrate practices of sustainable agriculture and contribute to a healthy food system for New Haven residents. Subsequently, we visited with Rebecca Holcombe, Director of Community Programs, who spoke about the various environmental education programs geared to pre-school ("Seedlings"), one-day a week immersion for elementary school ("Oaks" and "Elms"), afterschool programs and family programs, all held rain or shine in the campground and the surrounding forest. We then toured the new "green" school building and met with Monica Maccera Filppu, the Executive Director of Common Ground, who presented her vision of the school and its future and how its mission is accomplished through complex relationships with the community. This message was reinforced by Kimball Cartwright, Director of Development, who explained some of the funding sources that support the school's programs. It was all an inspiring snapshot of an institution with an unusually dedicated and mission-driven staff committed to developing community leaders through its program of authentic learning rooted in justice and the environment.

The Guilford Art Center's Holiday Show

On December 3rd, a dedicated band of YUWO members braved the snow to visit the Guilford Art Center's annual Artistry event which features work by over 200 American artists who show their one-of-a-kind, handmade crafts, including ceramics, candles, glass, jewelry, clothing, accessories, ornaments, stationery, leather goods, wood, toys, and even specialty foods. GAC Shop Manager, Elena Albergo, and Executive Director, Maureen Belden, offered "behind-the-scenes" background on how this festive event is put together every year, some of the history, and a look at some favorite artisans. And, of course, this was a great opportunity to shop knowledgeably for very special holiday presents. Some members promised to be back for more!

Yale University's Hume Collection of American Furniture

On February 4th, Patricia Kane, the Friends of American Arts Curator of American Decorative Arts gave YUWO members a special tour of the newly opened Yale University Art Gallery's Leslie P. and George H. Hume Furniture Study Center on Yale's West Campus with its more than 1,300 examples of American furniture and wooden decorative pieces dating from 1650 to the present. The collection is particularly strong in colonial and Federal furniture, mainly from the Mabel Brady Garvan Collection, but we also saw examples of historic tools and joinery models that illuminate craft processes, as well as a collection of about 200 pieces of contemporary turned-wood and related sculpture.

Planned visits that were on hold because of COVID-19 at the time of this report: Yale University's Musical Instruments Collection and Hillhouse Avenue and its Gardens. Another good year for YUWO activities!

— Barbara Kryger, Activities Chair

Minutes of the Yale University Women's Organization
54th Annual Meeting
May 8, 2019 at the New Haven Lawn Club

President Mary-Jo Warren called the meeting to order at 11:46 am. She thanked Audrey DeFronzo, who took the lead on organizing this annual luncheon. She asked Judy Miller, a former board member, to introduce Stephen Carter. Ms. Miller said that many of us know him through his books, which are described as thrillers, but they are sophisticated thrillers which introduced her to a world she did not know. Carter's achievements are so many and so impressive that there is time to mention just a few: a graduate of Stanford Law, he served as a law clerk for Justice Thurgood Marshall, and now he is the Wilson Nelson Cromwell professor of Law at Yale. Among the courses he teaches are those on Contracts, Evidence, Law and Religion, Slavery and the Law. He has published 15 books and 16 articles. His opinion columns have appeared in many newspapers, such as the Daily Beast, and Bloomberg News.

Mr. Carter spoke about his grandmother, Eunice Hunton Carter. The book he had recently written about her was titled Invisible: The Forgotten Story of the Black Woman Lawyer who Took Down America's Biggest Mobster. He knew her as a terrifying woman who showed up to correct his grammar and instruct him on the use of the proper fork. After her death he discovered she had been a lawyer, and had served on the staff of Thomas Dewey, who had been appointed special prosecutor to investigate organized crime in New York in 1935. Out of thousands of applications, Dewey hired 19 white men and Eunice. She was assigned the prostitution crimes and used wiretaps and raids to gather evidence. Prostitutes, she learned, paid protection money to the mob, and many of them identified Lucky Luciano, the head of the mob. He was then tried and convicted on prostitution charges. When Dewey was elected attorney general of New York, he brought Eunice into the attorney general's office. There she was in charge of the Special Sections Department, supervising over 100 white lawyers. When Dewey became governor of New York, the new attorney general eased Eunice out of office. She decided she would be a judge. But this was the McCarthy era and the shadow of her brother, a communist, whose FBI file was over 700 pages long, blocked her ambition and future career.

2019-2020 Scholarship Recipients:

Berlee Cameron, chair of the scholarship committee, introduced Keira Jackson, who is attending the Yale School of Nursing to become a nurse practitioner and women's health provider, and awarded her the Kay Ross Scholarship.

Eleanor Radune presented the Magee Fenn Scholarship award to Bayla Arrietta, who now works at the British Art Center and is pursuing a degree in museum studies at Johns Hopkins.

Carol Sirot introduced the recipient of the Gustave and Carol Lynn Sirot scholarship, Suzanne Martic, who emigrated thirty years ago from Yugoslavia, and is now pursuing a degree at Gateway Community College.

Berlee Cameron presented the Annual Fund Scholarships to Stephanie Alderman, who is pursuing a business degree in health care management at Western Governors University; Lynette Diggs who is earning a degree in applied laboratory science at Bay Path University, and Coleen Maguire, who is studying for a bachelor's degree in business management at Connecticut State University.

Mary-Jo asked all past presidents to stand and be recognized. Minutes of the last annual meeting on May 9, 2018 were approved. Eleanor Radune presented the budget for 2019-2020, which was approved.

Nominating committee chair Landa Freeman announced that her committee submitted the following names: Assistant Treasurer, Betsy Weber; Membership, Margaret Sipple; Recording Secretary, Susan Anderson; and Scholarship, Sally Tyler.

There being no other business, meeting adjourned at 2:10

Respectfully submitted,
Sally Tyler, Recording Secretary
